

Summer job: Ranch irrigation and general labor

When: Mid-late May to the end of August

Where: A few miles south of Lander

Who: A strong young individual capable of long days of hard physical work, able to handle working without constant supervision, and willing to learn whatever skills are needed, and attention to detail.

What: The work consists of helping with daily irrigating duties, (changing dams, putting out pipe, etc.), driving a truck and trailer to haul hay during the haying season, possible cattle work, fencing, and many other various projects that will be taken on during the summer months. It will require operating a four-wheeler safely around the ranch, operating other equipment, working with a shovel and with your hands.

Compensation: The employee would be expected to live on the ranch in the house provided. Lunch is usually provided by the ranch as well as some hamburger for other meals. All ranch related transportation will be provided. The pay is based on level of experience.

If interested or have questions, please contact Dan Spenst by phone, text, or email. If no answer please leave a message.

307-349-0839

daspnst@gmail.com